

Strategy Consultant of the Year

Jamie Ounan, Inner Circle Consulting

Jamie is a founding Director of Inner Circle consulting. Jamie specialises in strategy, the development of complex business cases and the translation from concept to project implementation. Jamie leads on a number of complex commissions across the public and private sectors. Jamie's experience covers the fields of planning and regeneration, life sciences, economic development, capital build projects, and corporate change.

Over the past 18 months no one will have had a greater impact on the end user and public life than Jamie. His strategic advice has led to the expansion of the UK's largest integrated cancer research and treatment hub, and progression of a £600 million-pound regeneration programme in outer London among other projects. However, Jamie feels his best recent achievement is setting up and growing the outstanding team at Inner Circle Consulting, who's relentless focus on innovation and delivering change has resulted in us working hand in hand with the UK's most progressive businesses and public bodies.
